

NANCY COX served four years as the President of the NATAS Ohio Valley Chapter. Nancy guided the Chapter through COVID and virtual ceremonies. The multi-EMMY® and Murrow Award winner worked over thirty years at WLEX in Lexington as a journalist and anchor. She is a former Miss Kentucky and continues to work with the organization. Nancy has served the communities of her beloved Kentucky throughout her professional life.

BILL BRYANT has more than 40 years in the industry. Bryant has become one of the most respected political journalists in the commonwealth. In addition to his role at Lexington's CBS station, Bryant is also the host of KET's longest running public affairs program Comment on Kentucky.

Along the way, Bill has been honored by the Associated Press for reporting and anchoring and is a proud member of the ECU Hall of Distinguished Alumni and the Williamsburg High School Hall of Fame. He's also recently received the statewide media award from the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mark Curtis is a journeyman storyteller whose four-decade long career has taken him all across the country. Since 2015 Curtis has called WOWK Charleston-Huntington market home where he become known for the kind of journalism that's exposed wrongs, won awards and changed laws.

Patrece Dayton is a journalist who spent her entire career championing journalism in the community where she got her start. She is the multi - Emmy award winning anchor and managing editor from WTHI. For 35 years Dayton she has worked to tell the stories that matter in Terre Haute, Indiana. As both anchor and managing editor she proudly helps mentor the emerging class of journalists as they start their careers.

For decades Jim Timmerman was the glue that held our chapter together. Jim Timmerman is a former Chapter President and he chaired our Silver and Gold circle committee for many years. Jim dedicated himself to making sure other qualified professionals received this very honor. Professionally, Timmerman is a production guru with 43 years of experience bringing media to life. This year he passed the baton on his service to our Emmy chapter. Now he will take his rightful place in its Silver Circle.

Randy Moore has worked more than five decades in broadcast journalism. Randy has been a fixture not only on television news, but in the very life of Evansville and the Tri-State area. Randy was born and raised in Evansville and has spent his entire career in his hometown.

Randy has won most every award recognizing excellence in TV news, including several regional Emmys® and Murrows as well as a national Murrow. He has also won numerous other awards, including those from the Indiana Broadcasters Association and the Associated Press.

Randy was inducted into the Indiana AP Broadcasters Association Hall of Fame in 2018. In 2017, Randy entered the Evansville Ball Hall of Fame for his coverage of youth sports.

Randy has given back to the industry through memberships in NATAS Ohio Valley and NPPA and by occasionally teaching courses at the local universities and returning to Ball State to mentor aspiring journalists. He won Ball State's TCOM alumnus of the year award in 2012.